

A Future for the Past: A Joint Conference of English Heritage and the Cathedral Architects Association 25-26 March 1994

The conference proceedings report on the first three years of strategic technical research in English Heritages cathedral grants scheme. The scientific and technical investigations were commissioned to find answers to the common building decay problems faced by cathedrals. They have a wider usefulness in the conservation field being equally applicable to the majority of historic buildings in the United Kingdom and overseas which are suffering the ravages of material decay and deterioration.
