Chateau du Chambord, a magnificient renaissance castle, was born in dreams of French king Francois I and probably it has been built following sketches of Leonardo da Vinci. Chambord combines Italian renaissance principles with traditional French medieval architecture. Even Chateau de Chenonceau is not as big as other castles of the Loire Valley, its charm and amazing architecture makes it one of the most romantic castles in France. Chateau sits on the river Cher which reflects the magnificence of the building and gives to the entire castle special ambiance. No surprise that it is one of the most photographed castles of the Loire Valley. Chateau Amboise is located 12 miles upstream of Tours. It is known mainly thanks to Leonardo da Vincis stay in residence Clos-Luce. French kings used the castle as a post for several weeks before going to other provinces of their kingdom. The current building is only one-fifth of the original castle constructed by Charles VIII.
