

African Performance Practices: Views and Insights (African Performance Review, Vol 2 No 1)

In the volume of African Performance Review the editors have put together an eclectic mix of essays which cover the wide spectrum of African theatre and performances: from oral performances (Gladys Akunna, Mvena Abuku and Christian Nwaru) to theatre-for-development (Samuel Kafewo), from African video movies (Osita Okagbue) to the reception of Goethe in Africa (Felicia Ibemesi), and from Duro Onis essay on theatre design in the university curriculum to Victor Ukaegbus excellent review article based on Osita Okagbues African Theatres and Performances (Routledge, 2007). This volume strongly fulfils the founding ethos of APR which is to be the foremost outlet of African theatre and performer scholarship worldwide.
