Dont File a Patent Expanded Fourth Edition is the first and only book that shows you why not to file a Utility Patent Application on your invention. You will learn the US Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO) wants your money, not your invention. You will see the obstacles the USPTO uses to deny patent applications with their repeated Office Action rejections. After each Office Action rejection, an inventor has to resubmit his patent application and pay thousands in additional legal fees to his patent attorney. Many inventors file for a utility patent thinking they will be receiving protection against copycats or knockoffs. However, Utility Patents do not prevent copycats. A U.S. Utility Patent is really just an expensive and worthless piece of paper that only gives the inventor the right to sue. As you will read in this book, patent infringement lawsuits cost $2 million or more. What small businessman or inventor has that kind of money? Dont File a Patent Expanded 4th Edition is two great books in one! Part I has 10 reasons why not to file for a Utility Patent Application. All have been verified by patent attorneys. Part II has many strategies to encourage you to manufacture and sell your product yourself, as Author John D. Smith has with his Storm Stoppers Window Protection business. Dont File a Patent Expanded 4th Edition also provides the full name and contact information for Patent Examiner Miss E.P. from the USPTO and her Supervisor Mr. R.e.C. With this information, you will be able to contact both parties and ask specific questions about their 3rd Office Action rejection for the Storm Stoppers Utility Patent Application in the book. (This contact information was absent the first three editions of this book). Page 216 of this fascinating book also has salary information for Miss E.P. so you will be able to learn how she doubled her salary from 2006 to 2014, during one of the worst recessions the U.S. has ever seen.
